AWFUL WARNING

To Lecherous Brutes Was the Terrible Execution of Coleman.

No Staying the Hands of the Infuriated People
When They Got Sight of the Wretch.

Horrible Punishment Meted Out to the Fiend—May There Never Be Another Occasion For Any Such Scenes as Witnessed Yesterday.

THE DAY'S EVENTS IN DETAIL.

The awful scenes enacted in this city Wednesday are a fearful warning to all lustful brutes of the Dick Coleman stripe. His crime, according to his own confession, in all its horrible details, was one of the most heinous, one of the most fiendish, ever committed.

His guilt was self-confessed, the wretch had acknowledged that he deserved death, and there was no staying the hands of the crowd when they once got sight of the brute, infuriated as they were by thoughts of the awful torture inflicted by the wretch upon the dear one whom they all loved, either as neighbor, friend or relative.

Apparently, the intense feeling aroused by the atrocious crime on October 5th had subsided. It had been Judge Harbeson's intention when the Circuit Court convened to hear Coleman's case at the earliest possible moment, and then to have the sentence executed as soon as the law would permit. He had received assurances from some source he regarded as reliable that there would be no attempt at violence, but that the law would be allowed to take its course, provided there was no effort to delay.

But while to outward appearances the feeling had quieted down, yet it was but the quiet that preceded the storm.

The court had been misled purposely. No company of State militia was wanted here by the crowd of determined men; they knew it meant bloodshed, probably the sacrifice of the lives of many citizens. They no doubt knew any outward manifestation of their intentions meant that the negro would be brought here under protection of a company of State Guards.

Friends in Covington kept the crowd apprised of developments. When the officers left Covington with the prisoner, the news was soon known in this city.

It was the intention of Sheriff Perrine and Deputy Roberson to bring Coleman up Tuesday night, and as a result a crowd of two or three hundred determined men waited at the C. and O. depot until 12 o'clock that night. When the train pulled in, an hour late, four of the men in waiting quietly climbed into the cab of the engine, and the engineer was commanded not to pull out until he received permission. But the prisoner was not on board; at the last moment the officers at Covington had received orders from Maysville to remain there until Wednesday morning.

Up to half an hour before the arrival of the train Wednesday with the prisoner, there was but little if any outward manifestation of the scenes soon to be enacted. Small groups of men from the country were seen here and there upon the streets talking, but the usual quiet prevailed.

Men numbering a hundred or so were assembled at the depot when the train arrived. Sheriff Perrine, Deputy Sheriff Roberson, Detective E. W. Fitzgerald, accompanied by Turnkey Mauer of Covington, had the prisoner in charge. Coleman was handcuffed. The officers were joined by Deputy Sheriff Mackey, Chief of Police Donovan, Constable Douglass McDowell, Special Deputy Sheriffs W. A. Wells and Emery McDowell, and members of the police force, numbering in all ten or a dozen men.

The first attempt at violence was made as the officers were leaving the train. A man in the crowd drew a pistol and it was evidently his intention to shoot the prisoner at first opportunity. The man was prevented, however, from carrying out his purpose.

The squad of officers hurried toward the court house, the crowd increasing at every step.

Up Second to Court, and then south on Court, and the officers were almost to the court house building when a crowd surged through the lower hall way and out into Court street.

The officers were just at the north end of the court house, when Coleman was seized by the neck by some one in the crowd. In an instant the crowd closed on officers, arms were pinioned, and then were heard shouts, "They have him!" "They have him!"

Officers who drew their pistols, had their arms pinioned ere they could use their weapons, and while determined men stood guard for a few minutes, the crowd hurried back to Second and started east with the cowering wretch, who was beaten and cuffed as he was pulled hither and thither, and pushed or half dragged along the street.

At Second and Limestone there was a short stop, and Deputy Sheriff Mackey, who had followed the crowd, appealed to them to return the prisoner and let the law take its course. No attention was paid to him.

At Bridge street the crowd ascended the C. and O. tracks and at the junction, just east of the creek, a vote was taken and the wretch's fate was sealed.

Death by burning was the verdict of the maddened crowd.

At first the deep hole near by in the angle of the railroads was suggested as a place for the execution, but a more secluded spot was selected.

Just south of the L. and N.'s engine house there is a deep gravel pit that has been unused for some years. It was a fit place for the awful scenes that followed. Almost in the center of this pit stood one small sapling, not large enough to bear up the weight of a man.

To this pit the crowd hurried with the negro. The rope with which Bulger, the rapist, was executed some years ago had been procured and fastened about Coleman's neck. He was allowed to pause on the brink of the pit for an instant, and then ordered by those below to come down. He moved not, and then the rope was tightened and the wretch was pulled headlong into the pit. He was lashed to the sapling, and then brush and grass and old railroad ties were piled about and over him until he was for the time hid from view. Then the match was applied and the wretch was slowly tortured to death.

It would be useless to try to attempt to correct the many horrible reports sent broadcast over the country. The plain truth is horrible enough without any exaggeration. An eyewitness says the wretch's eyes were not gouged or cut out. No coal oil was used until after death.

From the time the negro was seized by the crowd, he never uttered a word or cry, so far as could be learned, until he was asked if he wanted anything. His only words were for a drink.

After death had relieved the wretch of his sufferings his body was slowly incinerated.

Thousands visited the gruesome scene during the afternoon.

After 3 o'clock 'Squire Jacob Miller had Deputy Sheriff Mackey summon a jury and held an inquest. Coroner Wood was absent from town. The jury was composed of James C. Owens, Frank Purnell, Robert McGlone, James Hamilton, Thomas Stevenson and James Purnell. They returned a verdict that the bones before them were the remains of Dick Coleman, who came to his death at the hands of an infuriated crowd of the friends, neighbors and relatives of Mrs. James Lashbrooke, whom Coleman had brutally outraged and murdered.

After the inquest the bones, what few were left, were gathered up by Infirmary Superintendent Ed. Slattery (by direction of 'Squire Miller), placed in a box and buried in the infirmary burying-ground.

Thus the curtain fell on the day's awful scenes.

May the occasion never arise for another such day in the history of Maysville.

Yaquis Retreating.

Ortiz, Mex., Dec. 6.—A courier has just arrived here from the scene of the Yaqui war with dispatches from General Torres for the war department. This courier reports that the fighting between the Yaqui Indians and General Torres' troops ceased Nov. 28, the Indians retreating toward Tonchi. The courier says the Yaquis' losses in killed and wounded during the 10 days' engagement were estimated at 200. The Mexican losses were 15 killed and 30 wounded.

Gordon on the Philippines.

Minneapolis, Dec. 6.—General John B. Gordon of Georgia, now and for the past 10 years commander-in-chief of the Confederate Veterans of America, made a declaration on the Philippine question. He said: "My sympathies go out to the men who are fighting under the stars and stripes wherever they are, and I am not in favor of pulling the flag down. I guess that shows where I stand."

Sensation Promised.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—The court-martial of Chaplain David H. Shields on the charge of drunkenness and absence without leave will be resumed at the presidio. The prosecution will not occupy much time, but the accused man has many witnesses and promises sensational developments. He will attempt to prove that a conspiracy exists against him among members of the civilian clergy.

English Papers on the Message.

London, Dec. 6.—The amount of space devoted here to President McKinley's message to congress evidences the widespread interest in the document. The newspapers, in long editorials on the subject, particularly refer to the currency declarations and solace themselves with the idea that the good relations between the United States and Great Britain are so well known as not to have required emphasis as in the case of Germany.

"Charleston" Court of Inquiry.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Admiral Watson cabled the navy department that the court of inquiry to investigate the loss of the cruiser Charleston has convened at Cavite. He added that all the Charleston's people were present.

DAY IN THE SENATE.

Financial Bill and a Resolution of Sympathy For the Boers.

Washington, Dec. 6.—At the opening of the session of the senate the annual report of the secretary of the treasury, the attorney general, the comptroller of the currency and reports of other officials were presented. Senator Chandler introduced bills applying the customs and internal revenue laws of the United States to the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico after Jan. 1, 1900. Goods between the islands and the United States are to be exchanged as between the states.

A concurrent resolution adopted by the legislature of Michigan was presented by Mr. McMillan (Mich.). The resolution protested against the policy of the Russian government toward Finland and it was referred to the committee on foreign relations.

Mr. Kyle, Mr. Kean and Mr. Wolcott presented a number of petitions against polygamy.

Mr. Aldrich, chairman of the finance committee, had the distinction of introducing the first bill at the present session. It is what is known as the senate finance measure, and it is to "affirm the existing standard of value of all forms of money, to refund the public debt and for other purposes." It was referred to the committee on finance.

Ma. Mason (R., Ill.) offered a resolution extending the best hopes of the senate to the Boers in the contest for liberty.

Among other bills introduced were the following: To provide a form of government for Hawaii; to pension war veterans over 70 years of age; to repeal the war stamp act; to prohibit senators and representatives from performing the functions of the executive; to prohibit the issue of railroad passes.

FATE OF ROBERTS.

Mormon Statesman May Be Sent to the United States Senate.

Washington, Dec. 6.—If Mr. Roberts is finally rejected by the house of representatives, as seems inevitable, there is a possibility that he may come forward as a claimant for a seat in the senate. His rejection by the house, it is expected, will add to his popularity in Utah and it is suggested that if Mr. Quay is seated by the senate, the Democratic governor of Utah may appoint Mr. Roberts to fill the vacancy that exists in Utah's representation in that body.

In a signed statement Mr. Roberts says:

"The action of the house in my case was not a surprise to me. The whole matter was evidently prejudiced. When the question comes to be considered by members of the house after the pressure of public opinion is removed, I think the case will stand as a vicious violation of the well established precedents which have fixed the rules of the house. The foundation is now laid for confusion, chaos and revolution in the organization of the house and the rights of members therein. The action is the result of sectarian hate. The right of representation of a sovereign state has been denied by this section. I do not consider my case lost and shall fight to the last."

To Investigate Roberts.

Washington, Dec. 6.—After an interesting debate of three hours the house, by a vote of 302 to 30, adopted the resolution offered by Mr. T aylor of Ohio for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the charges against Brigham H. Roberts, the Mormon representative-elect from Utah. Pending the investigation Mr. Roberts is denied a seat in the house. Representative T aylor has called a meeting of the committee for Wednesday noon. Mr. T aylor says this initial meeting will determine upon a general line of action.

Yellow Jack in Costa Rica.

Panama, Dec. 6.—Reports from Costa Rica indicate that yellow fever has appeared in the interior of the country. For the first time on record cases of the disease have broken out at Alajuela, 12 miles from the capital, where, on account of the high altitude, it was not believed yellow fever could develop. Several of the patients have died. The government is taking vigorous measures to stamp out the disease.

Quay Appears Safe.

Washington, Dec. 6.—As the result of a canvass made by Mr. Quay's friends since the senate convened, it is asserted that 46 of the 85 senators will vote to seat him as senator from Pennsylvania. Senator Chandler has called a special meeting of the committee on elections to consider the case of Mr. Quay on Thursday.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The president has nominated Brigadier General Leonard Wood to be a major general of volunteers.

BESIEGED IN DISTRESS

Ladysmith, Kimberley and Mafeking
All In Desperate Straits.

CAN NOT HOLD OUT MUCH LONGER.

Boer Investment Grows Closer and the Shells Are More Numerous and Deadly — Terrible Battle Pending.

London, Dec. 6.—While the war office has received intelligence that Mafeking was safe on Nov. 20, it admits that the investment there was closer than ever before. This is confirmed by dispatches one day later, which show that the Boers are using new shells filled with a high explosive from a ten-ton gun and that the situation is serious.

From Natal dispatches forecast a terrible battle impending on the Tugela river. The most ominous one was dated Nov. 26, which stated that the Boers had captured 250 head of cattle belonging to the garrison and that shells were occasionally doing much mischief. The garrison was evidently casting anxious eyes southward.

Cannonading has been incessant at Ladysmith and shells are constantly dropping inside the British lines with an increased number of casualties. The British guns are replying steadily, a reassuring sign that the ammunition is holding out.

A dispatch from Freere, dated Sunday, Dec. 3, reports that in Colonel Lord Dundonald's reconnaissance near Colenso, 15 Boers were killed and many wounded. The road bridge across the Tugela river is intact. The same message reports that President Kruger is anxious that the burghers leave Ladysmith in order to oppose the British marching in the direction of Pretoria from the west.

Advices from Putterskraal, headquarters of General Gatacre's division, say the Boers entered Doordrecht this morning. This is probably Grobler's force of 1,500 men from Stormberg.

Additional news from Ladysmith brings the history of the beleaguered garrison up to Nov. 29. In spite of the rumors of a retrograde movement upon the part of the Boers, the stories just received show that the garrison, although still strong, was suffering from confinement, restricted diet and the increasing volume of the Boer artillery fire, especially that of additional heavy calibre gun placed in position 5,000 yards from the western defenses. The Boers have discovered the most vulnerable points of the garrison and shelling was becoming disagreeably effective. The rations had been reduced and there was a great deal of sickness. Nevertheless the troops of the garrison were in every way preparing to meet the assault which it was anticipated the Boers would carry out in a final effort to reduce the city.

General Joubert Ill.

Pretoria, Dec. 6.—(Delayed.)—General Joubert is indisposed and has arrived at Volksrust, across the Transvaal border for medical treatment. A dispatch from the head laager where General Schalkberger is in supreme command during the absence of General Joubert, announces that a council of war was held Dec. 2, with reference to assaulting Ladysmith.

Trial of Molineux.

New York, Dec. 6.—The prosecution in the case of the state against Roland B. Molineux sprung another surprise on the defense by having present in the court room Miss Agnes Avans, now living in this city, and who found the famous Burns letter, which played such an important part in the former proceedings of the case. The prosecution refused to say whether or not she was present under subpoena. Rudolph Heiles was on the stand.

Russian Ammunition.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6.—The Danish steamship Vladimir Sawin is on its way to this city, carrying one of the largest cargoes of war materials ever shipped to the United States. The shipment includes 5,000 tons of heavy and light guns, ammunition, lime fuses, torpedos and other material of the most approved types, and is consigned to the Russian government for use on the Russian warships now building at Cramp's shipyard.

Boston, Dec. 6.—John S. Chase, the Socialist mayor of Haverhill, was re-elected by a plurality of 223 in a total vote of 7,000. Of the seven aldermen elected, three were socialists. The issue was Socialism and anti-Socialism. In New Bedford the Socialist candidate for mayor was defeated by 3,000 votes.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair Thursday and Friday; fresh variable winds.

NEARLY 900 bills were introduced in the House of Representatives at Washington Monday. This session of Congress ought to prove a busy one, with all that material to work on.

THE Supreme Court of the United States has decided the east-iron pipe trust to be unlawful, and has sustained the decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. Now let them take a turn at some of the other combines.

A CARD was published some days ago from Mr. John Mastin, telling of his troubles as mail carrier between Maysville and Mt. Olivet, and of the fines assessed against him. A dispatch from that place this week says:

By order of the Postoffice Department at Washington the mail contract between here and Maysville has been taken away from John Mastin. His offense was late arrivals at this point.

THE BULLETIN is informed that Mr. Mastin was not permitted to leave Maysville until 1:30 p. m. and was required to reach Mt. Olivet by 5:30 p. m., which gives only four hours to make the drive of twenty-six miles, including stops at the offices en route and handling the mail at each. A gentleman speaking of the matter says it is almost an impossibility for a carrier to make the trip in the time required. We mention this, however, simply to call attention to another point. Railroad companies that handle the mails were up to a few years ago subject to these penalties if their mail trains failed to be on time. But at the last session of Congress, or the previous session, the companies succeeded in lobbying a bill through exempting them from these penalties. The poor fellows, however, who have to face these long drives over rough country roads in the severest weather and for but little pay are mulcted in heavy fines if they are not right on time.

CHEAPER

To Buy Steel Rails Abroad Than From Home Mills.

[Baltimore Sun.]

The trust's abuse of the power given it by the tariff is illustrated by one of the recent results, namely, the importation of two cargoes of steel guard rails, one being brought from Scotland, the other from Germany. These rails were to fill orders from various street railway lines in Eastern cities. This country exports steel rails. A few months ago one mill shipped 70,000 tons to North China, and a larger amount has been engaged for future delivery. From this one might infer that American street railways ought to be able to get steel rails cheaper here than abroad. As a matter of fact, on the two cargoes of imported rails just mentioned, there was a saving of 25 per cent. on the trust's prices. The trouble arises from the fact that the steel combine, protected by $7.84 duty, exacts from home buyers of rails a profit of 100 per cent. while selling abroad at low figures. For this reason it is cheaper to buy guard rails from Scotland than from a steel rail mill across the street. The fact that the demand for such rails is restricted accounts in part for the trust's excessive greediness in this case and subsequent failure to exclude foreign competition.

THE TOWN CLOCK.

Editor Bulletin:—Inasmuch as it is supposed to be my business to preach about irregular habits and "bad hours" generally, permit me to call attention to the so-called town clock upon the court house. Sunday morning it was, for a wonder, about right. Monday it was ten minutes fast. Tuesday, twenty minutes, and Wednesday morning twenty-five or more, and this wobbly condition is chronic with it, and has been running the twelve or more years I have been in Maysville. What is the matter? Is it the machine itself—or the attendants, or, as some say, the ringing of the bell? Some of my church people complain that I do not go by it in beginning services; my answer has been that as I am not a candidate for an insane asylum and do not believe in encouraging bad habits in either clocks or men, I can not do it. If the trouble is with the clock itself, by all means let us have a new one. If with the attendant cannot some one be named who will keep things straight generally? If with the ringing of the bell, then take off the rope and not ring at all.

Yours distractedly,
D. D. CHAPIN.

The Pogue distillery will start up next Monday.

WORLDWIDE

Triumph of Gospel of Christ Near at Hand.

An Eminent Brooklyn Divine So Declares in a Brilliant Sermon Sunday Week.

[Enquirer.]

Rev. Dr. N. Dwight Hillis, of Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, preached last Sunday week a sermon on "The Strategy of Providence and the Worldwide Triumph of Christianity," which has attracted considerable attention and earned much comment. Dr. Hillis stands in the very first rank of American preachers. He has as many admirers as Talmage and is declared by some to be the peer of the Washington man. In his sermon last Sunday week he began by describing the descent made upon Rome by the German barbarians, and he said of them:

"Obeying signals hung out upon the heavenly battlements, keeping step to the sound of unseen music, guided by a general who dwelt above the stars and beyond them, the forest children fulfilled their campaign, broke through the opposing ranks, swept down upon the imperial city, overcame the old corrupt race, saved the Roman law and institutions and with joy received the Christian ideas and principles. Returning homeward these eager disciples carried Christianity back to the forests of Germany, to the rich vineyards and orchards where the Huguenots were to dwell, and, following in the steps of Julius Caesar, crossed over from Calais and sowed England, Scotland and Ireland with the good seed of Christian civilization."

The next great epoch in "The Strategy of Providence" was in the sixteenth century, when, as Dr. Hillis says, "God raised up six giants, generals all, each leading his own host"—Martin Luther, Erasmus, Guttenberg, Calvin and William the Silent. Concisely summarizing the remarkable achievements of these colossal figures in the history of the world, Dr. Hillis turned to the advance made by Christianity in Japan, India, China, Africa and the far-off islands of Eastern seas. Some of his striking sentences read as follows: "Events are big with destiny. God is deluging the world with His divinity. Christianity seems to be entering upon a movement of world-wide conquest. Reasons are not wanting for believing that before the first century of treaty regulations with Japan has closed, Christianity will have been proclaimed in Japan by royal decree. 'I can foresee the dawn of a century,' says a great traveler, 'when China will be the stronghold of Christianity.' More striking still the new spirit that has swept over India. Max Muller tells us that he discerns that a new India has come into being, and that Christian teachers and missionaries have wrought a change that is nameless and subtle, indeed, but so profound as to amount to a transformation. * * * In libraries and lecture halls are found nearly 5,000,000 young men and women—teachers soon to be able to instruct India's 300,000,000 of people. Of Africa, too, it may be said, 'the old world is dead and a new one is born.' Opportune, also, is the increase of wealth in the hands of the Christian Church. Our national treasure is now estimated at $87,000,000,000, and England's at $60,000,000,000. Already the time has come when nearly one-half of the entire wealth of the world is in the hands of the English speaking and Christian nations."

In his peroration Dr. Hillis said: "Our own beloved land has also grown bright under the influence of Christianity and roseate under its benevolence. Now seems to have come a time when Christianity is to become universal, moving like a beautiful civilization over all the earth. Summer asks each plant to blossom, and Providence invites every nation to leave far behind its mud gods, the charms of medicine men, its demons, its ignorance and superstition. The locomotives in India threaten the car of Juggernaut. The colleges of India forbid the slaying of child wives. The freedom of the merchants in the Free Congo State makes the old slavery undurable. The trade winds have blown the seeds of liberty from field to field. The paths of commerce are becoming as broad as an Apian Way, and in the noble emulation all the races are hastening their onward march. Even nations but yesterday called pagan are beginning to dash forward with great power. The paths of art and education, of music and morale, of law and liberty, are soon to be trod by children of black and brown and yellow and red hue, not less than by their white brothers. Already Christianity has created a new Japan of the old Japan. Nothing but the natural scenery remains. Among the older nations, China and India, Africa and the islands of the sea, God is abroad—His mission, recovery. The strategy of Providence seems to be preparing a world-wide movement and a triumph for Christianity."

PORK IS SCARCE.

And Dealers Predict a Big Rise in the Market Soon.

[Chicago Record.]

That the future holds a lively time in store for Chicago packers is the opinion of leading provision dealers on 'Change. Pork, it is said, is the thing which will cause the manufacturers much worry before the end of next month's deliveries. Although talk of a corner is considered hardly rational at the moment, it is declared in some quarters that conditions are favorable for boosting the price of January pork to a dizzy height before the expiration of the option.

Some of the shrewdest operators in the market, it is claimed, have already taken steps toward gaining such a position as will give them the control of prices later on. This, it is pointed out, is suggested by a persistent buying of January pork which has been going on for more than a week.

New rules governing the manufacture of mess pork are chiefly responsible for the large shortage. These require that all pork in order to be delivered on contracts must be "fully cured." In order that pork should be fully cured it is said it must stand for about 60 days, so that all the pork available on January contracts is that made up in the last two months, as the packing season was not open until October 1.

Stocks of new pork on November 30 were only 16,176 barrels, and additions to this amount will necessarily be small, as there is little time left for making pork that would become fit for contract by the end of January.

The reason packers find themselves in their present uncomfortable position is said to be because the demand for other cuts of meat was so much more urgent that they neglected making pork at the time they engaged in free short selling in this article in the early fall with a view to depressing prices for hogs.

While pork is the real cause for worry, it is also claimed stocks of other meats are down so low as to materially aid a bull campaign in pork. A well-known trader said:

"While I do not believe there is room for talk of a 'corner' at the moment, the opportunity, nevertheless, is there, and unless the packers get busy soon I expect to see trouble when the January deliveries set in."

"Just Before Dawn"

A most credible performance of the new melodrama "Just Before Dawn" was given at Washington Opera House last night. The scene and personnel of the players laid in the mining region of Pennsylvania and is intensely interesting. A very pretty love story is woven into the piece. The company is a most capable one and handled their part nicely, including Mr. Hugh Gibson, the author of the piece, who is a clever character actor. Summing up the all, "Just Before Dawn" is a good and pleasing melodrama.

ELDER M. G. BUCKNER, who resigned recently at Washington, will take charge of the Christian Church at Ennis, Texas.

Brave Men Fall

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there is no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me now strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at J. J. Wood & Son's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

Outbreak in Guatemala.

Washington, Dec. 6.—News has reached here of another revolutionary outbreak in Guatemala. Few details are obtainable as yet, but it is known that the movement so far is confined to the northern portion of the country, near the Mexican border line.

IT WILL BE THE HANDSOMEST CLOTHING STORE IN THE STATE.

It is no longer a secret that our landlords have contracted for the improvement of our storerooms.

When done they will favorably compare with the finest in the State. Not finer, however, than their contents.

This is no longer left for us to say. For good, honest, up-to-date Clothing and Shoes, "Go to Hechinger's," is the advice from neighbor to neighbor.

There is a distinctiveness in our merchandise that makes it unique.

NONE LIKE THEM IN TOWN.

Now to "business." We have four weeks left to unload, if not the entire stock, at least enough of it to give the workmen sufficient room to get around the place when they begin to tear down, which will be about the 15th of January.

We can not hope to accomplish the unloading without extra inducements to the purchaser. We are going to INDUCE you to help us unload.

We know of no plainer way to convince you that we are in earnest than this proposal: Go into any clothing house in or out of town, Price their merchandise, then look at and price ours. That will tell the story of the unloading of our stock to make room for the improvements.

In the Review of Reviews for December Dr. Albert Shaw writes on "The School City—A Method of Pupil Self-Government." This is a system now in operation in many public schools throughout the country by which training is given in the practical duties of citizenship. Dr. Shaw sets forth the working principles on which the system is based and gives many interesting facts of actual experience in the schools which have developed these principles in practice. The article is illustrated.

SPRINGDALE.

Saturday, December 2nd, Miss Savannah McClure, of near Rectortville, was nineteen years of age, and in response to cordial invitations from her parents, the friends, not a few in number, of Miss Savannah met at her home and with laughter and song wished her many a happy return of the day, and passed the evening with her. The guests came with masked faces and queer costumes, and it was really amusing to look around and view the different "outfits." One young man didn't even know his own sister. After a season of fruitless endeavors to ascertain the identity of different members of the party, the hostess announced supper, and with unmasked and smiling faces, with happy hearts and "sweethearts" the company retired to the dining room, where the table was bountifully spread. After supper a season of music and innocent games completed the evening's program, and the guests went home, taking with them many pleasant memories and leaving behind them many well wishes. Those present were Messrs. Otis, Milton and Clarence and Mrs. Lanra and Miss Tillie Applegate, Misses Iva and Addie and Mr. Logan Truesdell, Robert, Ed. and Miss Mary Henderson, Mildred Rash, Dan Hook, Herman Thompson, Claude Tolle, Howard Hughes, George Davis, Joe Tully, Charles Vawter and Misses Nellie Bannister, Lulu Tully and Reila Hughes.

Nature "makes all things beautiful in their time." Every one of life's seasons, when life moves on Nature's lines, has its own charm and beauty. Many women dread that period when they must experience change of life. They fear that face and form may suffer by the change, and that they may fall to please those whom they love. The value of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in this crisis of woman's life lies in the fact that it assists nature. Its use preserves the balance and buoyancy of the mind and sustains the physical powers. Many women have expressed their gratitude for the help and comfort given by "Favorite Prescription" in this trying period. Its benefits are not passing but permanent and conduce to mental happiness as well as physical strength.

PURSING AGUINALDO.

Nothing Heard From Young For a Week—A Severe Engagement.

Washington, Dec. 6.—General Otis cabled the war department that he has had no word from General Young for a week. This is taken to indicate that Young is continuing his hot pursuit of Aguinaldo and probably is in a country where he regards it as unsafe to use couriers.

General Otis' dispatch also gives an official account of Lieutenant Colonel Parker's engagement at Vigan:

"Insurgents 800 strong made an attack on Colonel Parker's force, consisting of company B and 154 sick and footsore men of the Thirty-third Infantry, at 4 o'clock on the morning of the fourth, the enemy entering the city during the night. Severe street fighting ensued and continued four hours. The enemy was finally driven out, leaving behind 40 dead, 32 prisoners, including many officers and 84 rifles. The insurgents are now on the outskirts entrenching. Parker says he can hold out indefinitely, as he has plenty of rations and ammunition. His loss was eight enlisted men killed and three wounded. Troops will be sent to his relief."

As Utah was admitted into the Union with polygamy it would seem a hard job to keep her Representative out of Congress on that score.

As a whole territory was admitted with polygamy it would appear hard to debar one man admission on that account.

CONTEST IN KENTUCKY

Arguments In the Election Case Continue the Entire Day.

BOTH SIDES OBTAIN A HEARING.

Two Propositions Aired, In Which Is Embraced Some Fine Points of Law—Late Developments In the Case.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 6.—Arguments were heard all day in the contested election case. There are two propositions, the chief subject being the right of the commissioner to receive amended returns.

The Democrats allowed without comment the vote of Nelson county to be tabulated, but it was for the purpose of making a hard fight upon it later on. This is the county where the judges of election certified to the casting of ballots for W. P. Taylor instead of W. S. Taylor, the Republican candidate. They filed a second certificate correcting the error and this has now been accepted by the canvassing board. The Democrats claim this has established a precedent under which amended returns can be received and expect to bring in enough amended certificates from other counties to overcome the Republican plurality.

The Republicans contend, however, that the first return of Nelson county was not a return at all as far as the Republican candidate was concerned. There was no such candidate as W. P. Taylor and a certification of votes for each individual can in no way, they now assert, prejudice the certificate filed giving the votes to W. S. Taylor. They are making a hard fight on the proposition that the certificate for W. S. Taylor was an original document, the other amounting to nothing.

In the fight over the right to go behind the returns the contest was made upon the construction of the election law. Judge Hargis made the leading argument for the Democrats and A. P. Humphrey of Louisville for the Republicans.

Counsel Farleigh made arguments based upon the assertion that the right of the board of examiners to canvas the returns gave it no power to alter the certified results of the county board. He quoted authorities to show that the board had no right to examine anything, but certify the results, as anything outside of that was only hearsay evidence and therefore not admissible. Mr. Farleigh concluded his argument by saying it was simply a plain statement of the Republican side. He was followed by R. F. Peak for the Democrats.

Report of Secretary of Treasury.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The annual report of the secretary of the treasury has been made public. It is a lengthy document, and contains vast details as to the operations of the various divisions of the department during the past year. The report says the transactions of the fiscal year were of unusual magnitude. The gross receipts, under warrant, were $1,038,451,340.18, and the gross expenditures $946,222,148.83. The secretary notes the great increase in the use of gold. He states that gold is now the money standard of the country and the future needs only assurance of its continuance. To secure greater elasticity in financial system he recommends modification of present banking law.

Want More Time.

Washington, Dec. 6.—The interstate commerce commission gave a hearing to representatives of several railway companies asking for the further extension of time allowed the railroads to equip their lines with safety railway appliances under the act of March 2, 1893. Two years ago the commission granted an extension until Jan. 1, 1900. The further extension asked for at the present time is one year.

Couple Shot by a Thief.

Racine, Wis., Dec. 6.—Rev. D. B. Cheney of the First Baptist church and his wife were shot and probably fatally injured by a thief who entered their home. At the point of a revolver the minister and his wife were compelled to turn over their money and jewelry and then, thinking they were endeavoring to conceal some valuables, the robber shot them both.

New York, Dec. 6.—Edward Burnz, 19, is lodged at police headquarters in this city for the murder of Herbert B. Fellows, station agent and postmaster at Scarsdale, N. Y., on Monday night last. Captain McClusky, chief of the detective bureau, has announced that Burnz confessed to him that he had murdered Fellows by shooting him and that he had also robbed him.

Grievances Adjusted.

Bloomersburg, Pa., Dec. 6.—The grievances of the 250 car builders employed by the American Car and Foundry company at Berwick has been adjusted and the men have returned to work after a three days' strike. In future the men will be paid by the day instead of by the piece.
